Geography Awareness Week 2013: An Exploration of Water

To facilitate engagement with this year's theme for Geography Awareness Week (18th-22nd Nov), the Geographical Society of Ireland is running a project for students, geographers and the general public to participate in. The project involves people sharing a view of water during that week or beforehand.

To participate all someone has to do is to record an image, video or thought about water and share it. The easiest way this can be done is by taking a photo and sending it on; but, we also welcome video, audio recordings, drawings, maps, poems, or anything else you can think of. The important thing is that as many people as possible take a moment out of their week to do this.

Photography Competition

For the first time, the Geographical Society of Ireland is hosting a national photography competition as part of Geography Awareness Week. The three best photos related to our theme 'An Exploration of Water' will receive awards, to be given at a special ceremony to take place in Dublin.

All information about the project can be found at <http://gawireland.wordpress.com/>. To contact the project and submitted items please email gawireland@gmail.com

Also the project can be followed and engaged with through social media, including Twitter (@GAWIreland #GAW13), Facebook (<https://www.facebook.com/gawireland>) and Instagram (<http://instagram.com/gawireland>).
